And then Box 94, corner of Race and Fourteenth streets, was heard from Cause, another coal oil lamp explosion. No serious loss here.

About the time this last excitement had subsided the second alarm came in from box 239. It was false. The cause of the second alarm from this box is a nivetery. The fifth and last, soon after 10 o'clock, called the boys to the corner of Fourte and Ruce, where a private watchman unsovered the large clocking establishment of James Wilde, pr., & Co. was filled with smoke. The proprietors being absent and the keys in their possession, a fireman broke in a door and began a search for the fire, but found none. The smoke that caused the alarm came from a new furnace which had just been fired, and was defective. No damage and no water wasted. This ended the troubles of the fire laddles for one night at least.

THE GRAND OPERA-HOUSE. - "White Sulphur" drew another good audience last evening. The plece seems to be gaining in popularity, and well it deserves to, for it certainly is a good play and reflects great credit upon its author, Mr. Cailahan. The leading character is exceedingly well drawn, the minor, though not so skillful in themselves, show the wisdom of the author, who has so placed them that they cause the principal to stand out in a bolder relief. "Alice Brand" is a beautiful character, and in the hands of a talented actress, such as Miss Eldridge, will always be popular. To-night Miss Eldridge takes a benefit, appearing as "Juliet." in the play of "Romeo and Juliet." Messrs.
Boche, Fiske and Bradiey will be in the cast, which announcement is a sufficient guarantee of the excellence of the entertainment.

known as an efficient officer, always on the lookout for tramps who may intest that beautiful suburb, and always ready to have a helping hand in driving away the thieves and midnight maranders.

Some nights since Matthews was walking quietly along Auburn avenue, hiding in the dark shades of the houses, on the alert for anything to turn up. Suddenly toward midnight his ears were shocked by a horrid noise that proceeded from the rear of Mr. Atkins' residence on Auburn avenue. The noises that he Auburn avenue. The noises that he heard were not those of a human being,

Auburn avenue. The noises that he heard were not those of a human being, but seemed to be the cackling of trightened hens. Matthews sprang nimbly toward the acene and stealthily reconnoitered the place.

His eagle eye detected a crouching form upon the top of the chicken coop. He drew his revolver and on tip-toe approached. The action of that body was on sus, icious. Matthews was convinced that he had a blood-thirsty burglar before him. On a sudden his eye beheld something that to him seemed the ray of a burglar's lantern, and, imagining that the robber was about to spring upon him, he drew a bead on the form and ired. A low dying sound was heard and a heavy thud announced to Matthews that his opponent had fallen. He sprang to the dying body but immediately recoiled. He felt the skin of a harmless raccoon, who had determined to make a supper upon the dalaties of that chicken coop. Before the whdows of the neighborhood could be opened, and before the affrighted people of its Auburn could understand the object of the shooting and the noises of the chickens, Matthews was on his way to Corryville to report his midnight adventure with a raccoon, Matthews for hours [elt dejected and did not let himself be seen on Auburn avenue till that quiet village was once more buried in profound sleep.

"The name of Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has become as familiar to the people all over the country as 'household words.' His wonderful remedies, his pamphlets and books, and his large medical experience, have brough him into prominence and given him a solid regutation. The fimes, in the present issue, presents a whole-page communication from Dr. Pierce, and our readers may gain from Dr. Pierce, and the merits of his medicines. He has at Buffalo a manmont establishment, appropriately named 'The World's Dispensary,' where patients are treated, and the remedies compounded. Here nearly a hundred persons are employed in the several departments, and a corps of able and skilled physicians stand ready to alleviate the sufferings of humanity by the most approved methods. These physicians are in frequent consultation with Dr. Pierce, and their combined experience is brought to bear on the successful treatment of obstinute cases. The Doctor is a man of large medical experience, and his extensive knowledged by presentations of degrees from two of the first Medical Colleges in the land."

If you would patronize Medicines scientifically prepared by a skilled Physician and Chemist, use Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines. Golden Medical Discovery is nutritious, tonic, alterrative, and blood-cleansing, and an unequaled Lumment for both human and horsefiesh; while his Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is known the world over as the greatest specific for Catarrh and "Cold in the Head," ever given to the public.
